Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☐ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 15 September 2006.
- 2a) ☒ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☐ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 2 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Zavislan et al. US Patent No. 5,653,706.

Zavislan et al. disclose a device for treating the skin of a patient, the device comprising: a laser source for generating a treatment light in the wavelength range of between 700-1300 nm, an optical system for focusing the laser beam into a focal spot, and laser beam manipulator for positioning the focal spot into a target position as presently claimed (see Figs. 1-4 and 9).

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Cense et al. US Patent No. 6,976,984.

Cense et al. disclose a device for treating the skin of a patient, the device comprising a laser source for generating a laser beam during a predetermined pulse time, an optical system for focusing the laser beam into a focal spot, and a laser beam manipulator for positioning the focal spot in a target position as presently claimed (see Fig. 1).

Art Unit: 3735

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed on September 15, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant states that independent claims 1 and 7 of the instant application are directed to a device, which provided laser induced optical breakdown phenomenon to the hair 'so as damage the hair via mechanical effect.' He further argues that the prior art of record teaches "only non-mechanical effects, i.e., heating," and therefore, fails to disclose, teach or suggest any mechanical effects.

In response to these arguments, the recited claims language (the laser beam provides LIOB so as to mechanically damage hair) is directed expected results/intended use. This recitation adds no functional and/or structural limitation to the claims and therefore is not given a patentable weight.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
